TriFlash

Many of you know how excited I am about the Lastolite TriFlash. It has been the most anticipated of all the new Lastolite products and, even though not yet available, has already garnered a lot of interest.

The TriFlash is a finely crafted tilt-head which very cleverly provides three cold shoes to mount tilt head flash guns. This is not about getting more power; it's about getting more light on the subject.

Even before we showed the TriFlash to the public, people were calling asking when it would be available. The TriFlash was shown publicly for the first time at WPPI in Las Vegas in February and it was a hit. In fact the TriFlash made it onto the home page of the Strobist web site the first day of the show. Joe McNally used the TriFlash at his Dobb's Ferry workshop and he loves it and can't wait to get his own.

Features

- Umbrella tilt head attaches to any light stand or extension arm
- Can mount three flash guns
- Turn flash power down for faster recycle times and longer battery duration
- Provides a wider spread of light
- Sets up and closes down in minutes

TriGrip Stand and Bracket

While the TriGrip can be secured via a standard reflector holder, the new TriGrip Stand and Bracket allows a way to put the TriGrip Bracket at any degree. It also includes an extending arm with cold shoe for a tilt head flash gun. With a TriGrip diffuser in place this makes a terrific shoot through portable solution that gives a look similar to a softbox.

Features

- Ideal for photographers who work alone
- Compact foldaway design
- Can be used with battery operated flash guns
- Multi position ball joint connector

Pricing and Availability

The TriGrip Bracket is in stock and available for immediate delivery and the TriFlash should be in stock by April 23, 2009.
